

George Grundler, COO

"The Key to Successful Leadership is Influence, Not Authority" – Kenneth H. Blanchard

As the COO for Hidden Valley Homes, George brings over 23 years of experience in homebuilding and real estate development. George has spent many years working for large national and regional homebuilders as well as smaller custom design homebuilding companies. George's extensive experience in all facets of homebuilding, construction, sales, finance and leadership development provides the company the unique opportunity to meet the needs for the wide variety of custom home designs and homesites, as well as striving to exceed our clients' expectations. George helps lead our fantastic team in delivering an exceptional custom home but never loses sight that ours is a passion-built business based upon growing lasting relationships with our clients, team and stakeholders.

Originally from Virginia George earned a Finance and Management degree from Virginia Tech. Since 1999 George has directly or indirectly, built and developed over 3,000 homes and lots. He and his family moved to Brentwood in 2016 where they spend most of their "free time" shuttling back and forth between travel soccer and competitive gymnastics!
